$20,000,000 PAC. STEEL MERGER

Magnates at L. A. Prepare to Combine Interests

Los Angeles—With the arrival here of a group of San Francisco and Utah capitalists, who were in conference with A. C. Denman, Jr., president of the Southern California Iron and Steel Company, announcement will shortly be made, according to Denman, of plans for the great $20,000,000 merger of Pacific Coast steel and coal resources, a merger that will make the West entirely independent of Eastern mills for its steel supply.

First announcement of the project was made last September, with the incorporation of the Pacific Steel Corporation, under the laws of Delaware for $20,000,000.

Under this plan the properties of the Pacific Coast Steel Company, which operates plants in San Francisco, Portland and Seattle, the local plants of the Southern California Iron and Steel Company and valuable iron and coal deposits in Utah owned by the Milner interests, are to be taken over and operated by the new steel company. These deposits are near Zion City, Utah.

The plan also contemplates the erection of blast furnaces to cost approximately $7,500,000 in Utah close to the iron and coal deposits. The new company is to be organized so that it will operate in units independent of the Eastern steel manufacturing plants. The pig iron manufactured in Utah will be shipped directly to the various steel plants owned and controlled by the company for reduction into the finished product.

The entire project is to be financed by Los Angeles, San Francisco, Seattle and Utah capital, making the company entirely a Western concern.

The Judson interests of Oakland operating the second largest steel plant on the Pacific Coast, are also expected to join the merger. The Southern California Iron and Steel Company, which will become a part of the new corporation under plans previously announced, was founded in Los Angeles, in 1901.

For many years it has been operating a plant in this city, but it has also under construction a new plant on a twenty-six-acre site on the Union Pacific right of way in Los Angeles.

Through this consolidation the ambitions of Pacific Coast steel men will be realized, since for many years it has been the desire of leaders of the steel industry of the Coast to manufacture their own raw materials from iron and coal deposits available.

ALABAMA MINE EXPLOSION

Sixty Injured as Result of Woodward Disaster

Birmingham, Ala.—Eighty-four lives were lost and 60 persons were injured as a result of an accident and explosion yesterday in Dolomite No. 3 coal mine of the Woodward Iron Company, according to a statement issued at noon today by Frank H. Crockard, president of the company.

The accident and blast came almost simultaneously like two flashes of lightning, entrapping 477 men.

Flames shot hundreds of feet in the air from the mine mouth, enveloping the superstructure and making it impossible for rescue workers to descend for several hours.

CHURCH COLLECTION LOOTED

Beacon Bound by Armed Men After Service

San Francisco—Two hold-up men bound and gagged Charles M. Bufford, deacon of the First Congregational Church, in the secretary's office of the church, Sunday night, and stole the entire collection for the evening service, a sum amounting to more than $300, it is believed. The men, both of them armed, evidently were thoroughly conversant with the church's method of handling its collections, and the robbery was conducted in a quiet and business-like manner that indicated it had been carefully planned.

ACCUSED MAN IS ACQUITTED

HOW

ENGLISH ENGINEERS ARE EMPLOYING SEWAGE GAS.—Gas produced from sewage is being used to run engines at the sewage disposal works of Birmingham, England. Experiments made by John D. Watson, chief engineer, have proved successful, according to reports transmitted through consular channels. The sludge from the sewage, after it has undergone a certain amount of sedimentation, is fed into a septic gas producing tank, which is furnished with an air relief valve. The sludge is not aerated before it is used. The gas thus obtained contains about 60 per cent of methane or marsh gas, and is of big calorific value. It averages as much as 675 British thermal units per cubic foot, which compares vrey favorably with coal gas with 600 British thermal units per cubic foot.

Mr. Watson calculates that two tons of sludge will produce the gas required to give 150-horsepower hours, and that the total power available at that particular station could be raised if necessary, to 6,000-horsepower hours daily. The gas produced at the plant is employed in driving a 25-horsepower gas engine, which in turn works a centrifugal sludge pump. The exhaust from the engine is passed through pipes traversing the septic tank to supply heat and hasten the formation of gas. Samples of gas taken for analysis in cold weather had a higher calorific value than those taken in warmer weather, a fact which would seem to indicate that a warm climate is not essential for gas production.

FICTION WRITERS AS SEERS

How Oldtime Tellers of Tales Predicted Marvels Which Today Are Merely Commonplace.

A most amusing and voluminous book could be written around wise men's forecasts, beginning with those of Mercier who, in the year 1240, described many future marvels. His prognostications caused skeptics even of the Eighteenth century to smile in derision, yet, in the Twentieth century they are only simple and commonplace realities.

There could be cited Cyrano de Bergerac, the Marquis d'Argenson, Jules Verne, and a score more, without forgetting Emile Souvestre, who foresaw more than one of our conquests in his book, "The World in the Year Two Thousand."

Here is what can be read in one of the last novels of Champfleuri, "Le Jardin du Rol" (The King's Garden") about forty years ago: "A day will come when science will project her light into the interior of the human body and clearly see there just as we see the pebbles on the bottom of a brook."

Thus, a little less than twenty years before its discovery the author of "Fayance Fiddle" foresaw the X-ray. Truly, it must be conceded that fiction writers are often seers.

How Entire Town Was Moved.

Residents of Cedar Falls, a mountain town 40 miles from Puget sound, were terrorized recently when the entire place moved eleven feet toward Cedar lake. Should the slide continue it will mean the loss of all property and the abandonment of the town site.

It has been found that the clay formation upon which the foundations are erected lies in a slanting rock strata of extreme smoothness. There is really nothing but the weight of the clay subsoil to keep it balanced.

The winter's deep frost and a supposed earthquake shock may have been the cause of the earthslip. As every section of the town moved exactly the same direction and space the only damage was a few broken window lights.

How Nature Made Test.

A reinforced concrete arch of 86 feet span, forming part of a highway bridge constructed the year before last at Herkimer, N. Y., was submitted to an unexpected and severe test when the work of concreting had been completed only 12 hours. Owing to heavy rains during the deposition of the concrete, the water in the river spanned by the bridge rose about five feet, washing out or undermining the supports of the centring and carrying away part of the latter to such an extent as to leave the arch entirely without support, save that afforded by the molds in which the concrete had been deposited. Notwithstanding the sudden strain so imposed on the concrete, no injury was caused in any part of the arch.

CAPPER-TINCHER BILL PASSED

Washington — The Capper-Tincher bill, regulating trading in grain on boards of trade and exchanges, has passed the House finally.

EDITORS ROYALLY ENTERTAINED

The California Press Association met for the annual business meeting November 24 and 25, in San Francisco. Friday's session morning and afternoon, were devoted to business and discussion of topics of moment to the fraternity.

Friday evening the members were guests of the management of the Century Theatre, which has reopened as a moving picture house. It was the premier showing of "Hunting Big Game in Africa With Gun and Camera," made by H. A. and Sidney Snow of Oakland. These are really remarkable pictures and well worth seeing.

Saturday the whole party boarded special coaches for Burlingame where they were met by a large delegation of motorists representing the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce of Burlingame, San Mateo and Hillsborough and were given a most wonderful ride. The tour included a trip thru some of the beautiful private grounds of those cities and a visit to the Pacific Studios Corporation and to Pacific City.

The morning's trip terminated at the San Mateo Woman's Club house where three of the Women's Clubs served a delicious luncheon to the association and their conductors. The building is very attractive and the tables were artistically decorated. One item of the menu was delicious southern baked ham, the product of a negro caterer who makes a specialty of that article of diet. The dinner was served most expeditiously by the ladies and was followed by a few brief toasts under the direction of John J. McGrath, president of the Three Cities Chamber of Commerce. Plans for the Transbay Bridge which will undoubtedly be built from Little Coyote Point in San Mateo County to a point on the opposite side directly west of the Niles Canyon and slightly southwest of the Hayward-Dublin canyon, were explained.

Following the luncheon the auto calvacade wended its way to Stanford via the Spring Valley Lakes and entering the grounds from the Woodside road. The association, with the president, Governor-Elect Friend W. Richardson, were guests of the two Universities for the great game, an unusual courtesy and one highly appreciated by the editors.

A dinner and dance at the San Francisco Press Club Saturday evening completed a "Perfect Day."

S. D. Merck, editor of the Burlingame Advance was the inspiration of much of the day's pleasure, but his plans could never have been realized without the hearty support and co-operation of the Chamber of Commerce of the three cities and the women of the clubs. To all of them the Association is indebted for a very pleasant outing.

PLOT BARED TO SMUGGLE CHINESE

Fourteen Celestials Arrested After Offering Bribe

San Francisco—Arrest of fourteen Chinese, members of the crew of the Pacific Mail liner, President Taft, frustrated a hugh bribery conspiracy to smuggle Orientals into the United States, according to United States Immigration Department officials.

The Chinese were taken into custody as they stepped from the steamer at Pier 44, after they had been trapped, it was charged, in the act of passing $2,200 to Immigration Inspector John A. Robinson in an attempt to bribe their way ashore.

According to the report to United States Immigration Commissioner Edward White, Inspector Robinson was guarding the President Taft on Friday, the eve of its sailing, when he was approached by Chang Lin, boss of the Chinese members of the crew, an interpreter and the checker.

Robinson said they offered him $2,200 if he would permit eleven Orientals to leave the ship late at night and substitute for them eleven other aged Chinese who had been in this country and wanted to return to their native land. The inspector told them that he would give them his answer later.

Robinson informed Commissioner White of the plan. White communicated with United States Attorney John T. Williams. They decided to set a trap, and the fourteen Chinese were caught in the net.

FAMILY IS BEATEN TO DEATH

Slayer Fires Home in Which Crime Was Committed

Bristol, Tenn.—Five persons, all members of one family, were found brutally beaten to death in their little home here. In order to hide the crime the slayer burned the home. Police and firemen recovered the bodies before the fire hid the crime.

Those slain were W. S. Smith, Mrs. Smith, their daughter Delia, Mrs. Ruby Burchfield, another daughter of the Smith's and little Charlie Burchfield.

Bun Burchfield, son-in-law, husband and father of the victims, was arrested and held without bail charged with first degree murder.

The police say that Burchfield had threatened only yesterday to "get even" with his wife, from whom he had been separated a short time.

When the crimes were discovered and Burchfield had been arrested, Bristol seethed with excitement. Threats of lynching were heard and grave fears felt that the citizens may wreak dire vengeance on the alleged slayer.

JEALOUSY MOTIVE OF MURDER

Spouse Not as Drunk as He Pretended In Slaying

San Francisco—Jealousy is the motive which Captain of Detectives Duncan Matheson believes prompted Elmer E. Bannon to beat his wife, Mrs. Margaret Bannon, to death with a hammer and jam her body in a trunk in their residence apartment.

Although Bannon asserts that he had been drunk for two weeks and maintains that he does not remember what he did at home the morning of the murder. Captain Matheson says that in his statements he shows that he remembers too many incidents before and after the killing. He does not believe Pannon was as drunk as was supposed.

The War is Over

The coming retirement of Victory bonds A to F inclusive is a reminder that the war is over. Capital once devoted to war purposes can now serve the uses of peace.

Your bank takes this opportunity to recall our community's fine responses to those historic bond drives. Our district came forward splendidly every time; we were always among the first to go over the top.

Personal sacrifices made then, however, gradually ceased to appear sacrificial as time went on. Mother Country paid interest promptly. Clipping coupons has really been a very pleasant source of income, and a rather solid satisfaction.

"The power of money at interest" has, in fact, been forcibly and clearly demonstrated by the war loans; and while none of us would desire war again, we are wise to let the good lessons sink in.

Keep the benefits bought by war so dearly. Realize that every bond purchased was a step toward your own financial independence. Continue that progress toward a competence by converting your war bonds to the secure peace-time investment, an account in our Savings Department.

Bring bonds A to F inclusive, maturing December 15, to us any time between December 5 and December 15, and let our Savings Department take up the good work of paying you an interest income.

Navy Recruits Being Sought

Chief Quartermasters Heackett and Quinn, Navy Recruiting Officers, were in town last week They stated that the Navy had started recruiting and desirable applicants were being sought for between the ages of 18 and 35. Trade schools are at present open to selected applicants after their course of training at the Naval Training Station, San Francisco, is completed, filling them to be electricians, machinists, coppersmiths, radio operators, Yoemen, and Musicians.

The recruiting officers are both veterans of the World War and in their naval experience have found that young men from the Santa Clara Valley make exceptionally good man-o-wars-men.

Those desiring to enlist can do so, if found physically and mentally qualified, at the recruiting office which is located in the City Hall Building, San Jose.

Paper Drive Amazing Success

One of the liveliest 'contests carried on in Campbell was closed Saturday, when the last load of old papers and magazines left the High School grounds for the dealer's establishment in San Jose. The drive was initiated by the High School P. T. A. and then turned over to the students, the boys against the girls, with the promise of a treat to the winning side, and the money procured to be used for the benefit of the new library.

The contest ran for a week, first one side and then the other seemingly ahead, until at the end, the boys won with a margin of but a few hundred pounds.

Nine truck loads carried in over 16 tons of old papers and magazines, the largest amount the dealer had ever received from one institution, and the proceeds amounted to $284.35.

AGRICULTURALISTS MEET AT SACRAMENTO

The fifty-fifth State Fruit Growers and Farmers' Convention will be held in Sacramento, December 12, 13, and 14.

The matter of transportation, car shortage and the shipping situation generally will be discussed from both sides under such headings as, "Transportation from the Shippers' Standpoint and Report of California Transportation Committee," "The Railroad Situation in 1922 and Outlook for Next Year", "Refrigerator Car Supply for 1923."

Other subjects of interest will be considered under the general topics —"Quarantine Program", "Report of Results and Projects ahead by Cooperative Marketing and Other Associations," "Budget of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture and of the State Department" and others.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NOTES

Cecil Cutting, of the eighth grade won the first prize on the compositions on tobacco, Elsie Swanson second, Reginald Weston third, Vera Covey fourth, and Flora Downs fifth. The prizes range from two dollars down to one.

Miss Howe paid us her last visit Tuesday afternoon and gave a very interesting talk on the cigarette and its effect upon students.

There was another basketball game Friday, it being played against Burbank. Both Campbell boys and girls won, of course. The boys score was 13-5 and the girls 11-2.

As this was the first of the League games we are quite satisfied with the score. To explain "league games"—the schools of the county are divided into three leagues, the Tigers, Giants and Bears. Since we are among the Tigers, we must play all other Tigers, and the winners will play the winners of the other leagues.

Everyone present enjoyed a very entertaining Thanksgiving program during assembly Wednesday afternoon. The Girls Glee Club made its first appearance for this term and did its instructor, Miss Mace, much credit.

GOVERNMENT PROFITS BY CO-OPERATION

The government received as oil royalists in August the sum of $778,378.11 resulting from leases on government lands in the west.

$388,819.46 is credited to Wyoming, $354,751.40 to California and $34,807.25 to Montana.

The government's royalties vary from 22½ to 33 1-3 per cent according to the rate of prodetion. Under this system the government is a sure winner. If the well drilled is a dry hole the government loses nothing. If it produces oil the government gets its proportion.

Private industry co-operating with the government is the ideal way of developing the nation's national resources in a free country.

NOTICE

A district meeting will be held Monday evening, December 4, at the Cambrian school house to consider the matter of playground. A good representative attendance of residents is urged.

WHY ADVERTISING IS ECONOMICAL

Some firms have maintained that advertising is an expense added to cost of distributing goods.

Let us see how that works. There seems no reason to doubt that any concern that distributes reliable merchandise can secure and hold a greatly increased trade by advertising. Watch the crowd flock into a city store after a sale is announced, and your own eyes will prove it.

Over and over again, small and obscure firms have gone ahead in a short time, as a result of judicious publicity. When a store tells about its goods and solicits patronage, people feel a desire to see the merchandise thus offered, and they also think that such a place is a live one that will give good service.

Many stores double their sales in a short time through using regular publicity. But the expense of such a store did not double from the increase of trade. Its overhead costs for interest, taxes, rent, salaries, etc., would have increased but very little. And its operating expenses would not come anywhere near doubling. Its total costs might not be more than 25 per cent above the figures on the old basis.

Consequently the charge to be made against each article for overhead and running expenses would be much less than previously. The store could sell stuff for less money than before.

Advertising enables the enterprising merchant to do business on a bigger scale and take advantage of special opportunities. If the non-advertiser is offered a large lot of goods at a special price, he might feel that the deal was too big for him to swing with his regular trade.

But the advertiser would know that by announcing a special sale, he could get the public coming to his place, and could work off those goods in short time. He could afford to sell them at a low price, and the deal would pay through the big volume of sales in a brief period.

Thus the advertising store can handle large deals at a profit both to itself and the public, and newspaper publicity is one of the biggest forces tending to reduce the cost of distributing merchandise.—Marysville Appeal.

INCREASING USE OF COAL SUBSTITUTES

Another coal strike is already threatened next April when coal mine agreements will again expire.

The continued warfare in the coal mines of the country is rapidly increasing the development of hydro-electric properties and the use of electricity. Also it is developing the use of kerosene burning stoves and oil burners of various kinds for use in every household.

The public is thoroughly tired of continual coal strikes with periodical shortage of coal and resulting higher prices which the people must pay. Oil and electricity after once being installed, will displace coal permanently due to their increased convenience and economy.

The artificial gas industry can cope with the coal situation better than the individual as this industry can lay in large supplies or operate its own coal mines at a minimum figure.

Every advance made in the use of oil, electricity and gas for household and industrial purposes relieves the country that much from the disasters following a prolonged coal strike.

WHY ARE WE INTERESTED?

If you would ask the people of such states as Montana, Idaho, Colorado, Arizona, Utah and New Mexico what industry was among their greatest employers of labor and producers of new wealth, they would say mining.

If you would ask the people of Washington and Oregon what industry was their greatest employer of labor, they would tell you lumbering and logging.

If you would ask the people of these states how conditions were when these industries were inactive they would tell you, bad.

Lumber is the barometer of prosperity in the northwest states, mining is the barometer of prosperity in mountain and southwest states.

Both these industries are dependent on sound business conditions which encourage general industrial activity requiring new construction, railroad development, hydro-electric development and building of all kinds.

It would seem, therefore, that western people would be solidly behind any national program looking to the maintenance of safe and sane national policies and to moderation in taxation. Also that they would be against radical labor policies of the I. W. W., the Russian destructionists and our own labor leaders who apparently would not hesitate to wreck the country industrially in order to establish their dictatorial programs.

It is the common citizen who suffers most when our big primary industries such as lumbering or mining are interfered with by local, state or national policies.

UNCLE DICK UNDULY EXCITED

Took Aunt Mary Some Little Time to Understand the Matter, and Then, Action!

"I don't know what we are coming to," said Uncle Dick Fowler, as he surveyed a sheet of thin paper, which had accompanied a periodical sent to Aunt Mary by their daughter in New York.

"What's the matter now?" asked Aunt Mary tranquilly. "What are you doing with that sheet of paper, Dick, and where are your specs?"

"I'm huntin' for 'em now," said Uncle Dick, excitedly, "and I suppose this here," shaking the paper, "is a new map, and the way it's cut up by the railroads is a shame and a disgrace! I don't see how there's room left for a decent house lot in the whole state."

"Well, now, find your specs and read what it says," counseled Aunt Mary, abandoning her socks to look over Uncle Dick's shoulder. "Perhaps they're only prospecting the roads as yet; maybe they won't be built any more'n some o' these western towns that's laid out all so pretty on paper, and nowheres else. Read what it says, father."

"It says," faltered Uncle Dick, with a confused expression on his face, "Pattern of skirt and jacket on page 372. Pattern of evening waist on page 374. Pattern of—"

"Here, you give it to me!" commanded Aunt Mary, and she departed to spread Uncle Dick's supposed railroad map on the table, while he was left to ponder on the wonderful works of man—and woman.—Philadelphia Ledger.

POINTED WAY TO EFFICIENCY

Railway Mail Clerks Really Inventors of System Acknowledged as the Best Yet Devised.

When railway mail cars were first introduced each clerk was allowed the privilege of doing his work in the way that seemed best to him. Clerks competed for efficient methods—some of them attaching to letters they tied up in bundles a slip on which they wrote: "In case of error report to J. Blank, Route 99." From this the modern "facing slip" now used was copied.

These slips are of great variety, and are used in post offices as well as on the cars. One is placed on each package of letters distributed and tied for further distribution on another railroad system or in a post office. Every package can be identified in this way. If errors are found this slip with notations is sent through appropriate channels back to the man who made the error. In this way clerks are enabled to perfect their skill and add to or change erroneous items in their knowledge.

Tooth Had Wandered.

An extraordinary case of a wandering tooth leaving its normal base in the gum and traveling half way round a woman's head is reported from Constance, Switzerland.

A wealthy woman named Grauner suffered great pain from neuralgia which also affected her eyesight. She underwent treatment by leading French, German and Swiss specialists for several years, but without result. Finally, she consulted a dentist, who by the aid of X-rays discovered a wandering "wisdom" tooth behind her right ear and in dangerous proximity to the brain.

A surgeon successfully removed the tooth and the patient immediately lost her neuralgic pains.

Mme. Grauner, who has now completely recovered her health, rewarded the dentist and surgeon with large fees and had the wandering tooth mounted in gold.

Marks as Wrapping Paper.

Marks are so constantly depreciating in value that the thrifty Teuton is hard put to find some use for them. They are, of course, of some use in buying clothes and groceries, but not much.

The latest step in the downfall of the mark has been its use in the wrapping of chocolates. An enterprising candy manufacturer has discovered that 20, 30 or 40 pfenning and 1 mark paper money is a cheaper wrapper for chocolates than tinfoil, especially when one must purchase tinfoils with marks. In addition the money wrappers offer an inducement to the speculative candy buyer who wishes to hold marks for a rise.

Mrs. Harris' Brood.

District Visitor (calling on Mrs. Harris, a new arrival in the village)—You seem to have a great many children, Mrs. Harris.

Mrs. Harris—Yes, mum; and what's more, all their names begins with haitch. There's 'Ubert, my oldest. Then comes Ilda, 'Arriet, and 'Orace. Then there's Arold and 'Arry and 'Ector and 'Onoria. They're all haitches; all except the baby, and we christened 'er Holive.—London Tit-Bits.

Did Not Like Fat.

The provision dealer was astonished. He gazed at the newly married young woman as if he thought she were a victim of temporary insanity. "Did you say you wanted a—a lean chicken, ma'am?" he queried.

"Certainly, I did," and the young woman's expression took an added dignity. "Neither Mr. Torker nor I ever eat chicken fat. It is extremely distasteful to both of us, and I see no occasion for paying for what we do not like."—Philadelphia Ledger.
